On December 10, 1990, the Premier of Ontario, Bob Rae, announced that the government would implement "new measures to ensure greater fairness in appointments to government agencies, boards and commissions."

Some components of the government's commitment include the creation of a secretariat that will manage the appointments process, the establishment of an all-party committee of the Legislature that will review appointments, and the publication of a guide that will make information on Ontario's agencies, boards and commissions available to the public.

An important part of this government's mandate is ensuring that appointments to its agencies, boards and commissions reflect the diversity of Ontario's population and represent its various regions. The Public Appointments Secretariat will accept applications from all members of the public who have an interest in serving on Ontario's agencies, boards and commissions.

The Guide to Agencies, Boards and Commissions was first published in 1991 and provides information that, previously, was not readily accessible. It will be publishd annually in both English and French. Access to information in the guide will be provided to visually impaired and blind persons on audiotape.

A guide to agencies, boards and commissions

This guide is part of an Ontario government initiative to open the appointment process for the province's many agencies, boards and commissions to the members of the public. Everyone is encouraged to apply for public service. The province's agencies must be representative of the people and reflect a cross-section of their opinions.

Specifically, this guide describes how the government's agencies are formed, what they do and how their members are appointed. Membership tables list members' names, their appointment dates, the compensation they receive and where they reside. The information contained here represents the most current data available on appointments to Ontario's agencies, boards and commissions. While every attempt has been made to ensure accuracy, some information was unavailable at press time, some is currently undergoing review and some information may have changed by the time this guide is published.

What is an agency?

There are approximately 510 provincial government agencies operating in Ontario. They vary in size from large operating agencies like Ontario Hydro to small advisory committees like the Ontario Agricultural Museum Advisory Board.

A variety of terms is used to describe different kinds of agencies—boards, commissions, councils, authorities, foundations—but, for the purposes of this introduction, all will be referred to as agencies.

Agencies are created by the Legislature of Ontario to act for either the Legislature directly or a ministry of the Crown. There are three types of agencies—those that give advice; those which operate a business or a program; and those which make decisions of a regulatory or administrative nature.

For the purposes of this guide, the definition of an agency also includes any of the bodies established by the government on an interim basis to perform arbitration, regulation or similar functions. It also includes the many agencies excluded from the financial and administrative requirements of the provincial government, but to which the government makes at least one representative appointment.

Classification of agencies

For administrative and financial purposes, the Ontario government, through the Management Board of Cabinet, classifies agencies by their function and by a schedule. An alphabetical index of all Ontario's agencies, listing their function and the schedule by which they are classified, is located at the end of this guide.

Functions

Advisory agencies (A)

The prime function of an advisory agency is to provide information to the government that will assist in the development of policy or the ongoing delivery of programs. Some examples of advisory agencies are the Ontario Advisory Council for Disabled Persons, the Ontario Advisory Council on Senior Citizens and the Ontario Advisory Council on Multiculturalism and Citizenship.

Operational agencies (O)

An operational agency is one whose main function is to deliver goods and/or services necessary to implement approved government policy and programs. Operational agencies operate or manage provincial institutions such as the Workers' Compensation Board, the Ontario Heritage Foundation and Ontario Hydro.

Regulatory agencies (R)

Regulatory agencies are decision-making bodies. Their prime function is the control of public or private-sector operations as authorized by their founding legislation or the exercise of a licence-review function or an appeal function with respect to both government and third-party decisions. Some examples include the Ontario Human Rights Commission, the Ontario Labour Relations Board and the Agricultural Licensing and Registration Review Board.

Schedules

The schedule to which an agency is assigned depends on its degree of involvement with and reliance on the government, how it is funded and the overall nature of the agency's mandate.

Schedule I (I)

The vast majority of Ontario's agencies are assigned to Schedule I. These are the agencies that are the most closely involved with the government. They include any advisory, operational and regulatory agencies that:

- are funded directly by the Consolidated Revenue Fund (CRF) or by money collected as fees;
- have their administrative support provided by the responsible ministry, unless the agency is of a sufficient size that allows it to provide its own support services in a more efficient and effective manner; and
- appoint staff under the Public Service Act.

Schedule II (II)

Agencies assigned to Schedule II are established to carry out an aspect of public policy which may have a commercial orientation. They include all operational agencies that provide goods and services to the public in competition with, or instead of, the private sector.

Schedule II agencies are Ontario's equivalent to Crown corporations. In many cases, these agencies are not only established by a specific Ontario statute, but are also incorporated under the Ontario or Canada Business Corporations Act or Corporations Act; legislation which itself accords them certain powers and duties. Schedule II agencies are a little further removed from close involvement with government in that they:

- are or are intended to be completely self-funding from revenues generated by their own programs. However, they may receive loans or subsidies from the CRF in the start-up and initial phases of their operations or when they are directed by the responsible minister, in accordance with government policy, to carry out programs or activities that will incur deficits;
- adhere to the general management principles of the government, except where full compliance with administrative policies and procedures would not be appropriate. Schedule II agencies are more commercially oriented and need more flexibility and initiative to operate;
- manage their own administrative support; and
- appoint staff under the authority of their own act and not under the Public Service Act.

Schedule III (III)

Non-profit, social and/or cultural agencies are classified as Schedule III agencies. These agencies require the close involvement and participation of non-government sectors—business, community and cultural groups, and public organizations. They often possess specialized expertise normally not found or required in government.

Also included in this category are non-profit organizations that operate on their members' behalf such as the Teacher's Pension Plan Board and the Ontario Share and Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Schedule III agencies are operational agencies that:

- are either funded, wholly or in part, by the CRF, or by money raised through fees;
- are subject to the financial planning and reporting systems as determined by their responsible ministry;
- are self-funded, non-commercial organizations;
- adhere to the general management principles of the government, but can show why compliance with all government administrative directives is not appropriate;
- manage their own administrative support;
- do not appoint staff under the Public Service Act.

Non-scheduled agencies (N/A)

There are agencies that cannot be assigned to any of the above schedules. These are organizations which are excluded from the financial and administrative requirements of the Management Board of Cabinet, but to which the government makes at least one appointment. Some examples include university and hospital boards.

Types of appointments

While there are both full-time and part-time positions available, the majority of positions are part-time. Whether a position is full-time or part-time is not an indication of the importance of the appointment. In all cases, consideration will be given to the candidate's skills, experience and willingness to serve.

How an agency's members are selected depends on who has the responsibility to make the appointment. Minister's prerogative means that the responsible minister recommends the appointees. Premier's prerogative means that the Premier is responsible for finding the appropriate candidate. (See Prerogative in the glossary.)

In all cases, an appointee is selected by using the data base of potential candidates held by the Public Appointments Secretariat, by contacting the responsible ministry for recommendations, by seeking public input through outreach programs with such groups as the community, labour and management, and sometimes, by recruiting applicants through paid advertising.

Principles governing appointments

Number of appointees

The number, types and timing of appointments to an agency are as varied as the agencies themselves. To ensure the economical, efficient and effective use of public money, the least number of appointees that can satisfactorily perform the functions of the agency are appointed.

The workload of agency members is also an important consideration in the number of appointees selected. Many agencies, particularly those requiring attendance at hearings and the writing of decisions, will appoint a large number of members to ensure an adequate pool and then select only a few for attendance at any given event.

Geographic representation

Geographic representation will also be an important consideration when filling a vacancy.

Public representation

All agencies require representation from a broad cross-section of the community, including seniors, disabled people, francophone Ontarians, visible minorities, aboriginal and native Canadians, labour and management groups.

Some agencies, such as those exercising a regulatory or licence-review function, may also require specific expertise in their area. Again, a large number of appointments may be made while only a limited number of appointees actually attend any given meeting or hearing.

Compensation

Regardless of the nature of the appointment, there are a number of principles which apply when determining suitable rates of remuneration for appointments. For every appointee listed in this guide, a rate of remuneration is given. This amount is shown by an hourly, per diem, or per annum rate, or as expenses only. In some cases, there is no compensation at all.

Public service

An element of public service is implied in all appointments to the agencies of the government of Ontario. Consequently, rates of compensation, particularly for part-time appointees, are not expected to be competitive with the marketplace.

No payment requirement

There is no requirement that appointees be paid, nor that they be paid at any maximum rate which may be established by the Management Board of Cabinet. In fact, appointees to many of Ontario's agencies do not receive any payment for their services beyond, in some cases, the reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses.

Civil service

Civil servants will not receive any additional remuneration if appointed to the boards of an agency of the government of Ontario. Full-time agency members are classified under the same categories as their civil service counterparts. These classifications and their rates of remuneration are listed below.

How to read the information in this guide

This guide has been arranged alphabetically with a separate chapter for each ministry. In each ministry's chapter, the agencies are also presented in alphabetical order. At the end of the guide, there is an alphabetical index of agencies listing their prime function and schedule. An alphabetical subject index is also provided to allow the user to locate an agency by subject area.

Information about the agencies is presented in the following manner:

Ministry name. The full name of the ministry appears on the first page of a ministry's chapter. The address and telephone number of the ministry's general inquiry centre are provided. When there are facsimile numbers and telecommunications device for the deaf (TDD) numbers, these are also listed.

Agency name. The full name of the agency is shown in bold. An agency may consist of several smaller divisions, for example regional boards, and these will be listed alphabetically in the agency's section.

Agency address. The address, telephone number and, where available, facsimile number, and telecommunications device for the deaf (TDD) number of the agency are provided. Where an agency meets on an ad hoc basis, the ministry inquiry number should be contacted for further information.

Background. This section of the listing provides information on the agency's constituting legislation, the period or length of time for which the agency was established, the type of agency (i.e., whether it is an advisory, operational or regulatory agency), and the specific schedule to which it belongs. Prerogative indicates the authority for the creation of an agency and whose responsibility it is to make appointments to it. (Refer to the section Classification of Agencies for a fuller description of terms.)

Function. This section of the listing gives a brief description of the role and mandate of the agency.

Membership. This section describes the number of members, chairs and vice chairs, how they are chosen, and who is responsible for their appointments. Some appointees are ex officio members, that is, they are members by virtue of the office they hold. Others may have to be chosen from a particular professional group or from among the public. Further information about membership qualifications is presented in the section on Requirements, below.

Term. The length of time a member may serve on an agency is given in this section. If there is no legal limitation on the length of service, the commonly accepted term will be described. You will also find information about reappointments and limitations on the tenure of members.

Meetings. The approximate number of times an agency meets and, when available, information on the location of the meetings are indicated. The amount of time required for preparation, travel and subcommittee work is described in this section.

Requirements. Some agencies may require members to have special expertise or represent specific community or professional groups. Specific qualifications for membership are described in this section.

Table of members. The positions, incumbents, their tenure, remuneration and where they reside are shown in the tables.

Glossary of terms

Throughout the listings in this guide, abbreviations, codes and various terms are used to describe the characteristics of the various agencies. This glossary will assist you in using this guide.

O.C.—This is the short form for Order-in-Council.

Period—Period specifies the length of time for which the agency has been established. Often, due to the ongoing nature of some agencies, no expiry date is given. When an agency is set up for a clearly defined period, it is subject to a sunset review after the period has expired. For example, the period "JAN 14/71-MAR 31/92" means that this agency was established on January 14, 1971 and that a sunset review is expected to take place after March 31, 1992.

Prerogative—Prerogative defines the legal authority for the creation of the agency and the individual(s) who are permitted to make appointments. For example, "Prerogative: ML LG Minister" means that the agency was established under mandatory legislation with appointments made by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council and at the prerogative of the minister. The following abbreviations are used to denote the prerogative throughout the text:

- PL—permissive legislation. The legislation states that there may be an agency.
- ML—mandatory legislation. The legislation states that there shall be an agency.
- LG—appointments are made by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council (Order-in-Council).
- MA—appointments are made by the minister (by ministerial letter).
- Minister—appointments are the prerogative of the minister (by Order-in-Council).
- Premier—appointments are the prerogative of the Premier.
- Chm=P—the chair is appointed by the Premier.
- Mbrs=M—Members are appointed by the responsible minister.

R.S.O.—This is the short form for Revised Statutes of Ontario.

S.C.—This is the short form for Statutes of Canada.

S.O.—This is the short form for Statutes of Ontario.

Sunset review—Sunset review is the term used to describe the date when an agency's purpose and relevance will be assessed. An agency established with a short-term, clearly defined mandate must include a termination date in its constituting instrument, at which point, a sunset review should be undertaken. A sunset review can result in renewal, revisions to the agency's mandate/structure, termination, or amalgamation with another organization.

Any exemptions to this sunset-review process must have the approval of the Management Board of Cabinet. Regulatory agencies must be reviewed whenever amendments are being considered to their constituting instrument (usually the legislation).

Term—Term is the length of time an individual is allowed to serve on an agency. "Members serve not more than three years and are eligible for reappointment" is one example of a term of membership. Some legislation specifically states the length of time an individual may be allowed to hold office. In addition, the following phrases are used in this guide to indicate various terms of membership:

- At pleasure. Members appointed at or during pleasure are appointed by, for example, the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council for an unspecified period of time.
- Continuous. This means that there is no expiry date specified for a member's term of office.
- Ex officio. Ex officio members are appointed by virtue of the offices they hold. For example, the constituting legislation of the Civil Rules Committee stipulates that one member must be the Chief Justice of Ontario. Mr. Justice C.L. Dubin, the present Chief Justice of Ontario, will be, therefore, a member of the Civil Rules Committee for as long as he holds this office.

- No limitation in legislation. This means that no term of membership is set out in the constituting legislation. However, some agencies may have established a commonly accepted length of service.

Type—Type refers to the function (advisory (A), operational (O), regulatory (R)) and schedule (I, II, III) of an agency. For example, "Type: OI" means that the agency is an operational agency assigned to Schedule I. Agencies designated as N/A are those excluded from the financial and administrative requirements of the Management Board of Cabinet, but to which the government makes at least one appointment (e.g., university and hospital boards). (For a detailed description, see the sections Functions and Schedules, above.)

How to apply

Application forms are available from local MPP constituency offices, public libraries, the Publications Ontario government bookstore and the Public Appointments Secretariat. A blank application form is provided at the end of the guide, for photocopying. There is also a sample letter and completed application form included at the end of this section.

Individuals interested in serving on an Ontario government agency may apply by either completing an application for appointment or writing a letter, stating their interest and qualifications, to

Public Appointments Secretariat
Macdonald Block, Room M2-70
Queen's Park
Toronto, Ontario M7A 1A1
Telephone: (416) 327-2640

Fill out the application form, specifying the agency on which you would like to serve and describing briefly the skills and experience that qualify you for the position. If you need information on a specific agency, consult the agency listing or contact the agency directly at the telephone number provided in the guide. Where there is no agency address or telephone number, use the general inquiry number of the responsible ministry.

When your application is received, it will be logged and entered on the appointments database for future consideration. You will receive a letter confirming the receipt of your application from the Public Appointments Secretariat. As vacancies on agencies occur, the appointments database will be used to prepare a list of potential appointees.

Standing Committee on Government Agencies

When a potential appointee is selected, her or his name is forwarded to an all-party committee of the Legislature. This committee has the option of reviewing potential appointees to ensure that they are qualified. It may call an appointee to review her or his credentials. The committee then has 30 days in which to complete its review and report back to the Legislature on whether or not it concurs with the appointment.

Useful Tips on Making an Application

1. Ensure that you are familiar with the role and mandate of the agency or agencies to which you are applying. Please refer to the Function section of the specific agency listing in the guide if you are unsure.
2. Be specific. Whenever possible, be sure to indicate on which agency you would like to serve.
3. It is important to describe the knowledge, expertise, skills and training that you have acquired through your work experience, education, volunteer efforts or other activities, which qualify you for appointment to the agency.
4. Membership on some agencies requires specialized skills and experience. Please refer to the sections Requirements and Membership in a particular agency listing for details.
5. Please keep in mind that appointments to agencies are made as vacancies occur. Your application will be included on the appointments data base for future consideration and as openings arise.
6. Send all completed application forms or letters to the Public Appointments Secretariat.

Type: R I
Prerogative: ML LG Premier

FUNCTION The commission carries out the duties imposed on it by the act and such other functions as it considers necessary to fulfill the intent and purpose of the act. The commission monitors the bargaining process between the Ontario Council of Regents for Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology and the Ontario Public Service Employees Union (OPSEU) and assists in making or renewing agreements. Board of Parole

BACKGROUND

Ministry of Correctional Services Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.M.22, Part III, ss.31-41
Type: R I
Prerogative: ML LG Premier

FUNCTION

Parole in Ontario is a supervised conditional release of offenders who are serving sentences of less than two years in provincial institutions. The Parole Act (federal) and the Ministry of Correctional Services Act and it regulations define the eligibility and criteria for parole. The board, responsible to the Minister of Correctional Services, provides in-person hearings automatically for offenders who are serving sentences in excess of six months. Those serving sentences of less than six months must make application to the parole board in order to receive a hearing. Inmates are eligible for parole consideration after having served one-third of their sentence. They may, however, apply for early parole consideration under exceptional or compelling circumstances. A quorum of three board members, normally comprised of one full-time member and two community part-time members, reviews all available information on an individual case prior to the in-person hearing. Additionally, in quorum, the board conducts case reviews and undertakes a wide scope of administrative functions and administrative decisions. The primary goal of the board is to assist offenders with their reintegration into the community, with minimum risk to society.

MEMBERSHIP

The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council appoints the number of full- and part-time members considered necessary and designates a chair.

TERM

There is no limitation in legislation. Full-time members are usually appointed to a three-year term with subsequent reappointment for another three years. Part-time members are usually appointed for a total of six years in stages of one-year, two-year and three-year terms.

MEETINGS

Meetings are scheduled as required at various correctional facilities across the province. Substantial travel time is necessary to fulfill the legal mandate of the board. Part-time community members attend approximately six hearings a month.

REQUIREMENTS

Members are selected on the basis of their level of education (a minimum university-level education is required for full-time positions), experience with social programs, the criminal justice system and service to the community. In addition, members are expected to have sound analytical and communication skills and a good perspective on, and sensitivity to, offenders and the justice system.

BACKGROUND

Telephone Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.T.4, s.2
Type: R I
Prerogative: ML LG Premier

FUNCTION

The commission regulates some thirty telephone systems in Ontario. These independent systems, also known as “local exchange carriers”, must manage evolving technology and changing economics as well as deal with the impact of regulatory decisions made in other jurisdictions. The commission and the industry try, therefore, to anticipate rather than merely to react to change. The commission manages such matters as rate applications, exchange agreements between carriers, the sale, transfer and/or sharing of assets, and customer complaints. In addition, it also considers telecommunications policies, for example, regulatory principles for public utilities and the applicability of access tariffs.

MEMBERSHIP

The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council appoints three or more members and designates a chair and a vice-chair.

TERM

There is no limitation in legislation.

MEETINGS

The commission holds two-day meetings approximately eight to ten times a year.

Review Committees

BACKGROUND

Period: 1975–
Type: R I
Prerogative: ML MA Minister

FUNCTION

There are five review committees, one for each of the professions of chiropody, chiropractic, dentistry, medicine and optometry. The committees make recommendations to the general manager of the Ontario Health Insurance Plan (OHIP) under the Health Insurance Act (s.24) when there appears to be reasonable grounds to determine that all or part of the insured services were not in fact rendered, were not therapeutically necessary, or were not provided in accordance with accepted professional standards and practice, or when the nature of the service has been misrepresented.

The committees may recommend or refuse payment, reduce the amount of payment, or require and recover reimbursement from a member of the profession for any overpayment of fees. The committees have the power to direct financial inspectors and inspectors of the profession appointed by the minister to inspect, examine and audit books, accounts, reports and records maintained in hospitals, health facilities, a professional member's office or other health-care facilities where patients receive insured services.

MEMBERSHIP

Four of the review boards are constituted as follows. The minister appoints two members who are neither physicians nor practitioners and three members from the nominees recommended by the professional body (for chiropody, the Board of Regents of Chiropody; for chiropractic, the Board of Directors of Chiropractic; for dentistry, the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Ontario, and for optometry, the College of Optometrists of Ontario). For the Medical Review Board, in addition to the two non-professional members, the minister appoints up to six members from among the nominees of the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

TERM

There is no limitation in legislation. Members usually serve a one-, two- or three-year term and are eligible for reappointment.

MEETINGS

The committee meets approximately one day a month.

REQUIREMENTS

No member shall be employed in the Ontario public service of Ontario or by any Crown agency.

AGENCY Building Code Commission

ADDRESS 2nd Floor, 777 Bay Street
Toronto, Ontario M5G 2E5
☎ (416) 585-6660

BACKGROUND Building Code Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.B.13, s.13
Period: Dec. 31/75–
Type: R I
Prerogative: ML LG Minister

FUNCTION The commission decides disputes between building inspectors and applicants for or holders of permits, or individuals who have been issued orders concerning the technical requirements of the Building Code.

MEMBERSHIP The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council determines the number of members to be appointed and designates a chair and one or more vice-chairs.

TERM There is no limitation in legislation. Members' terms are usually for three years and are arranged so that a third of the membership retires each year.

MEETINGS The number of hearings depends on the number of applications filed; in 1991-92, 28 formal hearings were conducted. Hearings are usually held in Toronto, although they are also conducted in other centres. Some travel time and one to two days' preparation are required.

REQUIREMENTS Expertise in all aspects of engineering is required so that commissioners can advise on materials, techniques and building design for construction. No member shall be in the public service of Ontario or of a municipality.

Type: R I
Prerogative: ML LG Minister

FUNCTION The commission examines and conducts research on materials, techniques and building design for construction, for which there are no criteria set out in the Ontario Building Code. The commission does not approve new materials, techniques or designs, but authorizes their use where it considers them acceptable or when requirements for their use have not been included in the code.

Housing Authorities

BACKGROUND

Housing Development Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.H.18, s.7(2)
Type: O III
Prerogative: PL LG Minister

FUNCTION

The local housing authorities act as agents for the Ontario Housing Corporation (OHC) and operate under a management agreement with the OHC. They are responsible for the day-to-day management of more than 100,000 rent-geared-to-income units in over 300 municipalities across the province.

MEMBERSHIP

The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council appoints members nominated by the federal, provincial and local (municipal, county, regional) governments in proportions established by the act. (In the tables below for each housing authority, "F" stands for federal, "P" stands for provincial, "C" stands for county and "M" stands for muncipal.) The number of members for a particular housing authority is determined by the size of the administrative area and the number of housing units in the area. The chair is appointed by the Ontario government and the vice-chair is elected by and from among the members.

TERM

A term is two or three years. A member is eligible for reappointment for two additional terms of two years each or one additional term of three years, up to a maximum of six years service.

MEETINGS

The housing authorities meet monthly. Members may also be required to attend subcommittee meetings.

Ontario Labour Relations Board

ADDRESS

4th Floor, 400 University Avenue
Toronto, Ontario M7A 1T7

☎ (416) 326-7500

BACKGROUND

Labour Relations Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.L.2, s.104
Period: 1972–
Type: R I
Prerogative: ML LG Premier

FUNCTION

The board is a quasi-judicial tribunal responsible for the administration of the Labour Relations Act and for the provision of employee protection under various other statutes. The board certifies trade unions as collective bargaining agents for employees, appoints officers to mediate complaints regarding contraventions of the act, conducts hearings into complaints that have not been settled, grants remedial orders where it finds that the act has been contravened, and may terminate bargaining rights. It issues directions and declarations where unlawful strikes and lockouts have occurred and settles jurisdictional disputes arising from the assignment of work.

The board accredits employer organizations in the construction industry and hears grievances from collective agreements in that industry. It advises on the minister's authority to appoint conciliation officers and arbitrators and conducts 'employer-last-offer' votes when directed by the minister.

MEMBERSHIP

The board is composed of a chair, one or more vice-chairs and an equal number of members representing employers and employees, respectively. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council determines the number of members to be appointed. In the table below, "L" stands for labour (employees) and "M" stands for management (employers).

TERM

A term is usually three years, although there is no limitation in legislation.

MEETINGS

The board conducted 1,476 hearings in 1986-87. While most hearings are held in Toronto, about a third are held in other cities such as Ottawa, Windsor, Sudbury, Sault Ste Marie and Thunder Bay. Preparation time is required for hearings.

REQUIREMENTS

A legal background is generally required for the positions of chair, alternate chair and vice-chair. Labour relations experience is required for board members.

AGENCY

Ontario Public Service Labour Relations Tribunal

ADDRESS

Suite 2100, 180 Dundas Street West
Toronto, Ontario M5G 1Z8
☎ (416) 326-1388

BACKGROUND

Crown Employees Collective Bargaining Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.C.50, s.38
Period: 1972–
Type: R I
Prerogative: ML LG Minister

FUNCTION

The tribunal administers the Crown Employees Collective Bargaining Act. It is empowered by the act to adjudicate matters referred by government employers, and employees and their organizations, such as the conferring and terminating of representation rights on employee organizations, unfair labour practices, bargaining in bad faith, successor rights applications, alleged strikes and lockouts, consent to prosecute under the act, inclusions and exclusions of employees in bargaining units, exemptions from the payment of union dues by individual employees and the duty of fair representation owed by employee organizations to individual employees.

The tribunal appoints labour relations officers, who help the parties in a dispute reach a settlement without resorting to a hearing. Mediators work with the parties in reaching a collective agreement and interest arbitrators determine the provisions of a mutual agreement, acting in cases where the parties have failed to select an arbitrator.

The tribunal has the authority to proceed to the Divisional Court to determine any question of law. It must submit a case to the court on the request of any party to a hearing. Tribunal decisions are final, although the act empowers the tribunal to reconsider its decisions if it deems it advisable to do so.

MEMBERSHIP

The board is composed of a chair, one or more vice-chairs and an equal number of members representing the employees and the employer, respectively. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council determines the number of members to be appointed. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council appoints the chair and vice-chair after considering the views of each bargaining unit and appoints members representing the interests of the employees after considering the views of each bargaining agent. In the table below, "L" stands for labour (employees) and "M" stands for management (employers).

TERM

Members' terms may not exceed two years. Members may be appointed for one or more terms of not more than two years.

MEETINGS

The tribunal schedules, on average, twelve cases a month. Hearings are generally conducted in Toronto.

REQUIREMENTS

Adjudicators should be trained in law and have extensive prior adjudicative experience and experience interpreting legislation. Members should have experience in the field of labour relations.

Each member of the Sub-committee, other than the Chair, may choose one or more of the intended appointees for review from the certificates provided by the Clerk of the Committee.

4. Following a meeting of the Sub-committee called for the purpose of selecting intended appointees for review, at which an intended appointee was not selected for review, or following 30 calendar days from the tabling of the certificate pursuant to paragraph 1 during which no Sub-committee meeting for the purpose of selecting intended appointees for review has taken place, whichever shall come first, a report shall be deemed to have been made by the Committee and adopted by the House, that the Committee will not review the intended appointee.

9. In reviewing an intended appointee, the Committee shall not call as a witness any person other than the intended appointee.

10. In its report, the Committee shall state whether or not it concurs in the intended appointments and may state its reasons therefor.

11. The Committee shall present its report to the House on its review of intended appointments at the earliest opportunity following the meeting at which its findings have been made and such report shall be deemed to be adopted by the House.
